What an Odd Name...

Yes, there really is a Barking Frog! The Western Barking Frog lives in trees and only “bark” for two to four weeks during the start of monsoon season in late June and early July. The “bark” or call is similar to a dog bark but can only be heard from fairly long distances. There is also an Eastern Barking Tree Frog which can be heard as the “yapping” of a small dog.

The idea to name this restaurant Barking Frog Grille® came from the owners brother, who owned a restaurant of the same name in Park City, Utah several years ago. When he sold the restaurant he retained the name and when the opportunity arose to open a new restaurant here in Sedona, we knew the name and idea would translate perfectly!

Thank you for visiting the Barking Frog Reserve Room. We hope to see you again soon!
