What an Odd Name?!?

Yes, there really is a Barking Frog!

The barking frog lives in outcrops and caves on the rocky slopes of Southeastern Arizona. About 3.75” in length this toad-like frog has dark irregularly shaped spots or blotches. The barking frog is elusive and is usually located by their distinctive loud “barking” calls practiced only for two to three nights following the first heavy monsoon storm of the season.

The idea to name this restaurant Barking Frog Grille® came from the owner’s brother, who had a very successful restaurant of the same name in Park City, Utah. When the  had the opportunity to open a second restaurant in Sedona, we loved the idea to revive the fun Southwest name in honor of the owner’s brother and the customers who so loved the restaurant and its name!

Thank you for visiting the Barking Frog Grille and the Reserve Room.
We hope to see you again soon!
